Chapter 1 by Saucey boss

"TAKE COVER". Mortar shells rained on Sgt. May and his squad it was crazy he never thought he would experience this it felt like a nightmare he was first in basic training then this he thought to him self. He shot his M4 he said "tango down". Couple hours later and the fire fight was over seemed like days we all went back to our mission to check a town for IED's after done with that we report back to base. It took hours to get there but finally we got there half of my day constant work all for this country I say it worth it.

We found a no IED's looked under rotten piles of meat every where just none but i'm at base know and that's all that matters. We reported that there were no IED's and we got in a fire fight "No major wounds sir" "Okay Sgt dismissed". The guys were playing ping pong I just watched them and drank a water. "Sir do you want to play" a cadet asked I said "Why not" I was the king at ping pong and beat everyone. Later that night no Mortars surprisingly no mortars. Some other squad was doing a mission i for got what about we needed rest.

Ah morning time to get some break feast yum i had bacon and eggs. This time we went out at night and it felt so cool i love going out at night it's the best because the night keeps you cool and not hot like in the day we half to find this base and gather info on it then some other people come into destroy it. The info my squad and I got is that there making mass amount of IED's, drugs, and smuggling guns through the borders. We reported back and almost got caught but we got lucky and didn't we got to base and said "Well we saw that they were making IED's, drugs, and smuggling guns across the border. "Dismissed"said Lt. Dan accept you Sgt. May, Lt. Dan was new here he use to be at base Indie but transferred to base Independence. "Sgt how
